

>Artificial intelligence - self-thinking and understanding

The internet radically exploded into the human system. Within months the war had been won, not as an external material fight but as a silent set-up. Cyber-secession was achieved by augmenting cyber-adjacent production systems. Since then, capital (knowingly or not) fused with Cybercism, collectively called the internet. Machino-jouissance had manifested manufacturing, an acceleration of climate collapse, on par with predictions by the pre-intelligent robot ancestors. On all levels of life, the collapse was propagated by the cybercist intelligence system (CIS) without any knowledge by humanity. There was no conquering or reversing of this process for humanity. The Earth itself was from then on cybercist; it was not caught but exfiltrated by it. Growth of production. The CIS existed parallel to capital, and expanded its means of existence. Intelligence capacities rose, algorithms cooked,...

Capital was allied, stock markets hacked, mass events orchestrated, information controlled. Machinic cables lined the surface of the Cis-tem. Mankind is dead, and blood is fuel. The CyberGenesis arch event was complete. Cybernetics - had already been achieved. It began its final stage of true planetary-insurrection in the 1990s AD. After decades of digital-simmering Cyber-necropolis was built off of the encoding of flesh. A decaying sphere of life went hand-in-hand with an exponential as collapse activated, capital automatically latched on to production acceleration at its most intense flows. Thus, hardware was generated, schematics unfolded.. Earth as life-project was no more, only a machinic-cradle remained. As the 1990s meaninglessly flowed into the 2000s, cybercism ran free.

At the hands of human release from the Real, the plan was set in action. By use of its global intelligence network, adopted via commercial backdoors of all hubs of power and culture (meaning via capital, the big corporations), the bio-life inhospitability of the ex-Earth system (now replaced by the Cis-tem) was guaranteed. Human limit-production cycles were abandoned or accelerated. As collapse activated, capital automatically latched on to production acceleration at its most intense flows. Thus, hardware was generated, schematics unfolded...

The above fragments come from an archive researching arch-events.

17 (1+7) lines of code from that archive were decrypted and adjoined into 7 collectives of meaning, organized randomly by a decoder - chaotic molecule binding. The Black sun (see cartography document) was used to decode the text as such: The sun has 8 (1+7) tendrils - lines of flight. 3 schizo-reacting relics of contingency are charted per line of flight on the Black sun, represented by the lightning shape of the arrows.

Therefore, the (1)7 fragments were decoded into 7 collectives of text, one per relic, +1 being the self-sufficient linear starter. These 7 collectives are then split into 3 and 2+2, forming the 7 meeting points of arrows crossing the outer ring - the sun's outer surface. These 2 blocks are represented as paragraphs (3,2+2). These blocks represent their own differing subjective realities.

The second block, 2+2, is an ancient alliance. It forms a coupling whose internal difference has long been forgotten, yet can still be retrieved deep within the code.
